

Science's most seriously funny research starring Marc Abrahams

Marc Abrahams is editor and co-founder of the science humour magazine Annals of Improbable Research (AIR). He is also the father and master of ceremonies of the Ig Nobel Prize Ceremony.

Join the American who runs these improbable awards for his deadpan commentary and multimedia show. www.Improb.com/ig/ig-top.html

Where: University Centre, Churchill Avenue, Sandy Bay.

Date & time: Friday 19 August, 7.30pm sharp (doors open at 7.00pm)

Cost: Admission is free

Further information:

Phone 6226 2125

★ 0884m

Tasmania

Department of Economic Development

UTAS

